AN IMPORTANT UPDATE FROM INSIGHT INVESTMENT

30 April 2025

We wrote to clients in January 2025 confirming that Raman Srivastava had joined Insight as CEO Designate and announcing Abdallah Nauphal's decision to retire later in 2025.

The press release issued at that time can be accessed here.

Abdallah has now stepped down as Insight's CEO and Raman Srivastava has been formally appointed to the role, effective 30 April 2025.

We wish Abdallah a long and happy retirement and thank him for his many achievements over his long tenure as Insight's CEO.

About Insight Investment

Insight Investment is a leading asset manager focused on designing investment solutions to meet its clients' needs. Founded in 2002, Insight's collaborative approach has delivered both investment performance and growth in assets under management. Insight managed £619.0bn of assets as at 31 March 2025 across its core liability driven investment, risk management, full-spectrum fixed income and currency capabilities.

Insight has a clear mission and purpose to offer investors a different approach to achieving their investment goals; one that prioritises the certainty of meeting investors' chosen objectives in contrast to the traditional focus on maximising return and minimising volatility.

Insight Investment is owned by BNY Mellon, a global leader in investment management and investment services with $2tn in assets under management. More information about Insight Investment can be found at: www.insightinvestment.com
